

Next Retail Store.

The well known high street retailer Next has come a long way since 1864, when it was originally founded by Thomas Hepworth in Leeds.

Since changing its name in 1982, the store has not looked back and now boasts about 700 stores worldwide.

One such store, based near Edinburgh, made use of Steeldor to protect entrances to the back of the unit.

Resilient, easy to fit and perfectly finished, this quality range of steel security door can be configured for a variety of applications and accreditations.

Powder-coated, the doors can be finished from a choice of 100 BS and RAL stock colours, including metallics, pearlescents and marine grade coatings at extra cost.

STRONGDOR

Steeldor

FEATURED IN THIS FACILITY

Steeldor steel security doors protecting rear entrances.

Durable performance for busy retail environments.

Powder-coated finishes in 100+ BS/RAL colours.

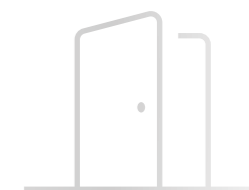

Fully bespoke configurations for versatile applications.

CASE STUDIES

STEEL DOORS

Fully bespoke, Steeldor offers the kind of practical flexibility that make it popular with both contractors and specifiers.

Next Retail Store.

EXPLORE MORE CASE STUDIES HERE