CUSTOM MADE STEEL DOORS

Confidence is essential to healthcare. When we trust in the ability of those doctors and nurses, who routinely carry out such fantastic work, it can be as effective as the most potent of medicines. So imagine our delight when our Strongdor Steeldor Series door was specified for an extra storage building at the Royal Preston Hospital. The people we trust had chosen Strongdor.

The Steeldor Series Door is a robust, secure and quality range that is growing in popularity with architects as the word spreads about it's efficacy in high profile applications such as this one. These doors fully meet the new CE certification and are manufactured to very high standards that today's markets require. These are excellent doors that meet both the architects requirement and the clients expectation.

All the Steeldor Series doors are available with the C5 marine grade coating which comes with a ten year anti-corrosion warranty. So you can be sure that it will stand the test of time.
